About the Integrated Learning Specialist Program

The Integrated Learning Specialist Program (ILSP) prepares K-12 teachers and teaching artists to educate young people for the future with the skills and conviction to find solutions. ILSP courses give educators creative strategies for students to deepen skills in academics, while expressing themselves artistically through multiple arts disciplines.

In the course you will:

- Learn analytical frameworks from Harvard's Project Zero
- Explore culturally relevant, contemporary, multi-disciplinary curriculum
- Use protocols and thinking routines that improve your professional practice
- Earn CEUs through Mills College
- Work toward the Integrated Learning Specialist Certificate

About the Course: Integrated Learning for Human Rights and Social Justice

Taught by acclaimed performing artist, Sarah Crowell and arts education scholar, Julia Marshall, in collaboration with The World As It Could Be© Human Rights Education Program, this hands-on course explores arts integration for equitable classrooms and justice. Participants learn to deepen academic content knowledge through the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and contemporary social, environmental, educational and health issues. Teachers also gain knowledge and tools to integrate the visual and performing arts and human rights education so their students actively engage in ways that promote a healthy, peaceful and just society.

Course fees: $299

Mills CEUs available for an extra fee

All art supplies and reader included, breakfast and lunch not provided
